

Narrative Writing Project: Injustice—In Your Own Words

Write a short story that is inspired by the theme of injustice. Either model your story after one of the unit selections and the historical event described in that selection or make up your own event that results in an act or situation of injustice.

Suggestion: think about writing a children's story. You could adapt a children's story you already know, or make a new one up.

Make sure your story has a beginning, middle and an end. Make sure the ending teaches some lesson about injustice.
